

REPORT HASTINGS FLEES FROM ARREST

GUMMER TRIAL HALTED AGAIN
BY GREEN'S ILLNESS AS STATE
DEVELOPS ELIMINATION THEORY

Trial to be Resumed Wednesday
Morning in the Barnes County
District Court

STATE'S PLAN MADE PLAIN

Hope to Show That No One Except Gummer Could Have Committed the Murder

Valley City, Jan. 24.—The William Gummer murder trial was halted again today when continuance was taken at the opening of court this morning until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, because of the continuance of the illness of William Green, state's attorney, prosecuting the case. No session was held yesterday afternoon because of Mr. Green's illness.

Meanwhile, attorneys assisting Mr. Green in the prosecuting continued to work on the chain of evidence on which they hope to convict Gummer, of the murder of Marie Wick, in a Fargo hotel. Defense attorneys continued silent as to what their line of defense for Gummer would be.

Theory of State
The theory by which the state apparently hopes to fasten the crime of the murder of Marie Wick, is by a process of elimination.

The evidence piled up bit by bit, much of it apparently irrelevant to the casual observer in the courtroom, is designed by State Attorney William Green to account for the actions of every person in the hotel on the night of the tragedy, and to show through this chain of circumstances that Gummer, the young night clerk, alone could have committed the crime.

The accounts of the guests, the time of various happenings and the location of every guest at the time of the crime are the essentials of the state's case as it stood when it went into the final stages. Whether State Attorney Green has direct evidence of starting nature to back up his circumstantial evidence is a matter of conjecture.

Gummer is said to have made important admissions to officials a few days after the crime was committed. Evidence along this line is eagerly awaited, as is the possibility that Gummer will take the stand in his own behalf and explain his actions on the night of the tragedy.

The testimony of Mrs. Van Vorst, a guest in the hotel, which was given yesterday, is regarded as one of the strong links in the state's case of circumstantial evidence. Mrs. Van Vorst said she heard noises about 12:30, which by experiments the state claims, are shown to have emanated from the room which the 18-year-old Grygla, Minnesota, girl was occupying. Again Mrs. Van Vorst heard noises about 4 a. m. This, the state contends, is the hour of the murder.

The state's theory is that the little country girl was assaulted about 12:30 a. m. and was murdered about 4 a. m. During the time of three and one-half hours there was someone in Marie Wick's room all or part of the time, the state contends. It asks the question, "How could these noises which awakened guests continue to be heard at periods three and one-half hours apart have been caused by anyone else except William Gummer?" "Are not all the other guests in the hotel accounted for?" "Do not Gummer's strange actions further fasten the crime on him?"

As to the crime itself, and the manner of its execution, the state contends that Miss Wick's room was entered about 12:30 a. m., entrance being gained by the use of a bent hairpin which was inserted in the keyhole slipped past the key, the bent point of the pin being then inserted in the head of the key. Thus the door was turned, and at the same time the pin prevented the key with the brass slug to which it was attached from dropping to the floor.

On the theory that entrance was made at 12:30, and the state is prepared to produce a witness who heard noises in the room at that hour which subsequent experiments indicated were similar to those made by a person kicking against the brick wall near which the bed of Miss Wick's room stood.

Miss Wick would have been in her room about an hour and a half, and it would have been an hour after the time that Gummer is alleged to have admitted to authorities that he called her by telephone, attempting to engage her in conversation.

Was Gagged and Bound
It was upon the occasion of this first visit to the girl's room that the state maintains Miss Wick was gagged and bound to the bed. First, she was choked into unconsciousness. The right hand of her assailant was used in this, for the four fingernail prints were on the left side of the girl's throat, and the nail print made by the thumb was on the right side of her throat.

Either the man, probably bent then only on the crime of rape, had succeeded in getting to a point between the girl's bed and the brick wall at the west side of the room, or she had raised herself in bed, and probably had protested his presence in the room, before the choking took place.

If the man stood on the east side of the bed, her head being to the north wall, it would have been easier and more natural for the assailant to use his left hand in the choking. If she had raised herself in bed, or if she had attempted to lean to her feet, when he bent down on her and choked her until she was unconscious, the use of the right hand would be natural.

IT'S GOOD NAME,
SO WHY CHANGE
AFTER WEDDING

Washington, Jan. 24.—Elsie Hill, one of the leaders of the National Woman's Party, confirmed reports of her marriage to Albert Leavitt of the University of North Dakota and in doing so announced she would not change her name.

"Why should I change my name?" she asked. "There is no law to back it up and it is only a custom that has been leading people to do it all this time. I think it would be inconvenient to change my name."

The suffrage leader said she and Prof. Leavitt were married Christmas, etc. in Chicago.

Former Director-General Says
They Were Not Returned

Washington, Jan. 24.—Assertions that the railroads were turned back to their owners after the period of government control in a "broken down" condition were refuted today by Walker D. Hines, in a statement before the Interstate Commerce committee in which the former director-general of railroads said he believed the government had "substantially maintained the equipment of the railroads." Mr. Hines told the committee of the condition in its general railroad inquiry that reports at the end of federal control showed locomotives to be "in distinctly better condition than at the beginning and the condition of freight cars to compare favorably with that time."

"Machinery must be provided," he said, "to meet changed conditions in the consuming foreign markets and in domestic markets."

"We must recognize," he added, "the necessity of selling our agricultural products more gradually than we did in former years and the necessity of carrying our commodities for a longer period. We need the machinery that will make it possible for a twelve month market of our annual production."

FARM PROBLEM

SPEAKER SAYS

Tells of Influence of Conditions in Italy Upon American Agriculture

ASKS FOR BROAD STUDY

Sees Necessity of Further Information to Guide Farmers in Production

Washington, Jan. 24.—The National Agriculture conference turned to Europe for a study of factors causing the general American farm depression and for possible means of release.

G. P. Warren, of Ithaca, N. Y., just back from an investigation in Europe told delegates of the effect of the situation there on American agriculture and emphasized the need for American farmers as to European production and demands.

"For some years the conditions in Europe will be subject to erratic changes both in supply and demand," he said. "If we are to adjust our production to meet the changing demands we must have the fullest and most carefully analyzed information. Agriculture is not a one-year business. We need to know the currents of European movements as far in advance as possible. This involves continued study of European and later of Russian farm conditions. We also need continuous information that bears on demands. In normal times market prices furnish a poor enough guide for farmers in adjusting production to demand but now and for years, to come we must know much more than present prices if we are to make wise plans."

The afternoon was given over to committee meetings.

A proposal that the United States offer to take over the entire navy of the allies at full cost as payment on the billions they owe the United States, and other equipment at "junk prices," this amendment to be sailed to the Pacific there to be sunk with all flags flying, was made by Herbert Merrick, farm paper editor of Springfield, Mass.

Seventy thousand dollars worth of hail warrants have been purchased for the unnamed North Dakota farmer with whom the state administration arranged for an advance for the disposition of $200,000 of 1921 warrants at 97 per cent of face value pending the completion of details necessary to the sale of the entire lot of 1921 warrants. The unnamed farmer offered to dispose of $200,000 worth of warrants in the meantime for farmers who felt the need of disposing of their warrants quickly. The warrants are being bought by W. F. Reko, who has desk space in the farm loan department of the Bank of North Dakota. It is expected that the entire $200,000 worth will have been purchased by the latter part of the week.

No hitch in the offer obtained by the administration for the purchase of warrants at 98 in February is expected.

Reverent Tribute Is Paid to Pope
Benedict Whose Body Lies in St. Peters

Rome, Jan. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—The first of the nine Pontifical high masses for the late Pope Benedict XV was sung this morning with grand solemnity in St. Peter's. Simultaneously there were solemn ceremonies in all the great basilicas.

Rome, Jan. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—While thousands streamed by the catafalque of the Pope in the Basilica of St. Peter's today, paying reverent tribute to the dead prelate, cardinals of the church were on their way from many foreign countries to participate in the election of a new Pope.

The brief interval before the opening of the conclave which has been set for February 2, however, will prevent some of them—notably Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia and the Canadian and Brazilian cardinals—from arriving in time to vote unless the election is unduly prolonged.

Cardinal O'Connell of Boston has cabled that he is taking passage today and may be able to enter the election providing the new Pope is not chosen in the first ballot.

Will Help Matters

Washington, Jan. 24.—Although President Harding believes that the work of the Washington conference eventually will lead to reduction of both land and naval armament he is not prepared to recommend any radical reduction below the 150,000 limit of land forces of the United States.

Secretary Hughes in a statement of the position of the United States was understood to have reaffirmed the policy of the American government as to territorial aggression. An agreement under which the Bono Islands, adjacent to Japan, are not to be fortified also was reported to have been reached.

Postponement of the assembly of the Geneva conference set for March 8 probably will be necessary, it was stated in official circles because of prolongation of the armament conference.

Washington, Jan. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—Virtual settlement of the Siberian question so far as Washington armament conference is concerned was understood to have been reached today at the meeting of the Far Eastern committee with the acceptance of the Japanese statement promising complete withdrawal from Russian territory.

NEGLIGENCE IS CHARGED POLICE
IN COAST CITY

Attorney General Johnson Says
They Bungled the Arrest of Hastings

WARRANT WAS ON WAY

Notified to Locate Him But Not Arrest Until Warrant
Was Ready

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 24.—The Seattle police had J. J. Hastings, wanted at Fargo for alleged embezzlement, with no warrant; today they have a warrant but no Hastings. They indicated that he had gone to Vancouver, B. C., Saturday night. They have postponed arresting him.

Hastings is wanted on a charge of embezzlement of $3000 of the Scandinavian-American bank of which he was vice-president and has been a resident of Seattle for two years in the brokerage business all the time.

Failure of police of Seattle to hold J. J. Hastings, wanted in answer to a charge of embezzlement in Cass county, when they had taken him in custody, permitting Hastings to go in to hiding, according to information received today by Attorney-General Johnson.

A telegram from Chief of Police W. H. Searing of Seattle said that Hastings had gone into hiding and efforts were made to locate him. Complaint was made that the warrant had not arrived but investigation by the Attorney General's office showed that the warrant had arrived, Johnson said.

When Hastings was wanted four coast cities were notified to be on the lookout for him. Hastings, it is said, was engaged in promotion or bond selling on the coast.

Police were notified not to arrest him until the warrant was arrived. However, Seattle police immediately took Hastings into custody after locating him. The warrant had been dispatched from Cass county and reached Seattle Sunday. The message today said that he had been released on his own recognizance and had gone into hiding.

WILL DISCUSS
POTATO RAISING

Farmers in Vicinity of Baldwin
May Form An Association

Farmers in the vicinity of Baldwin will hold a meeting tomorrow to discuss the feasibility of organizing a potato growers' and shippers' association. H. G. Higgins, of the Baldwin State bank, reported here today.

Many farmers, having investigated the possibility of profitable potato raising, are anxious to form an association. The success of one farmer, who made $800 off 15 acres of potatoes and $400 off 80 acres of wheat has inspired others to investigate the possibility of co-operative enterprise in potato raising.

Nearly every farm in the northern part of the county has some low-lying land that is excellent for potato raising, Mr. Higgins said.

BOND FORMS ARE APPROVED

DeNault Expects to See Farm
Loan Business Expedited

The Industrial Commission has authorized commencement of farm loans from funds available pending delivery and payment of bonds in volume, it was announced today. The farm loan department which has steadily been engaged in preparing for making of loans now will be able to close several loans as quickly as all applications can be made. It is hoped to begin making loans in volume about the middle of February.

Form of bonds to be issued to provide funds on which farm loans can be made has been approved by Chicago bond attorney, W. B. DeNault, manager of the Farm Loan department, announced upon his return from Chicago where he went to speed up delivery of the bonds.

Delay in approval of bonds also delayed the printing of them, and Mr. DeNault also made arrangements to have the printing of them speeded up so that they will be delivered in time to permit the department to begin making farm loans on a substantial basis in February.

Machinery of the farm loan department now is being placed in working order, new applications are being received each day and some loans, where the land owner needed a loan to permit him to redeem the land, will be made before the general loaning business can start. Many applications are being received lately and Mr. DeNault has some bond and the business that by the time bond is available there will be no time lost in completing many loans.

BIG GREEN BOX NO MYTH, SAYS SEC. CRAWFORD

Records Show that Propaganda
Equipment for League Paid
For by Bank. He Says

TO GET PHOTOGRAPHS

Says that Records of Proof of Matter Will be Photographed Soon

"The 'big green box,' as the reporters have dubbed it, is no myth. It is a sad reality, and through records contained in it and investigation growing out of it we have absolute proof that money of the Bank of North Dakota was used to provide political propaganda for the Nonpartisan league," said Lewis W. Crawford, secretary of the Industrial Commission today.

Source of information through which the mystery of the "big green box" was solved was divulged by Mr. Crawford.

The proof, he said, is contained in indisputable records. He plans to have a record showing that the "big green box" and an addressing machine, was paid for by the Bank of North Dakota but was ordered by Geo. A. Totten Jr., when the latter was campaign manager for the Nonpartisan league. He has documentary and verbal evidence, he said, to prove that the equipment was delivered to the Nonpartisan league headquarters in Fargo, and that the bill for the equipment was approved by F. W. Cathro, director-general of the Bank of North Dakota.

Steps by which the mystery of the "big green box" was solved follow:

- The Bank of North Dakota paid the Fargo Printing Company the following bill, consolidating several bills of the printing company:
- Oct. 12—Addressing 500 stamped envelopes..... $12.50
- Oct. 12—Addressing 4,555 envelopes..... 11.00
- Oct. 12—Addressing 20,000 envelopes..... 40.75
- Nov. 22—24,495 stencils cut..... 610.12
- Jan. 14—19 lbs. rubber bands..... 17.50

Less amount paid on voucher 1613..... $700.62

Balance amount due..... $175.00

The above bill is on stationery of the Bank of North Dakota and has the O. K. of L. A. Cram, stock clerk and F. W. Cathro, director-general.

The printing company rendered separate bills, which are attached to the bill and voucher on Bank of North Dakota stationery, for the identical items. These, excepting the $17.50 item for rubber bands, contained the following "O. K. G. A. T. Jr.":

"I, Lewis W. Crawford, say that I had information in a letter to the effect that this work was done on order of Geo. A. Totten Jr., then campaign manager for the league.

Another bill from the company is for 100 electric address press, $310.00; 100 steel rollers, $175.00; 100 steel type sets, $150.00; hand press, $8.50; 1 unit, electric $17.00; silk and reprint counting, etc., attachment, $150.00.

This bill contains the note: "O. K. G. A. T. Jr."

Another separate bill says: "Sold to Mr. Geo. Totten Jr., c/o Nonpartisan league, city," and is for the cutting of the $810.12 worth of stencils referred to above. This contains the O. K. of L. A. Cram, stock clerk and custodian of the Bank of North Dakota and of "G. A. T. Jr." Another separate bill for addressing contains the same "O. K's."

These items, shown on the bills as approved by "G. A. T. Jr." are shown also in identical form on the personal property account of the Bank of North Dakota, or the furniture and fixtures account.

Delivered to N. P. L. He Says.

The explanation of them, in addition to that given by the bills themselves, is, according to Mr. Crawford's other information, that the addressograph machine etc. was delivered to the Nonpartisan league headquarters in Fargo and paid for by the Bank of North Dakota; then later sent to the Bank of North Dakota.

The stencils cut were names for mailing from lists furnished by the Nonpartisan league headquarters in Fargo, where Geo. A. Totten Jr., operated.

The bill for the addressograph contains the O. K. of F. W. Cathro, October 21, 1920.

The filing cases—"the big green box"—cost $135, and are included in the bills.

The cards which went into the "big green box"—propaganda lists—were in part removed. Employees have told Mr. Crawford that part of them were boxed up and shipped away from the bank. There are enough cards, Mr. Crawford says, to substantiate the information that they were prepared by league precinct captains and came to the Bank of North Dakota through Nonpartisan league headquarters.

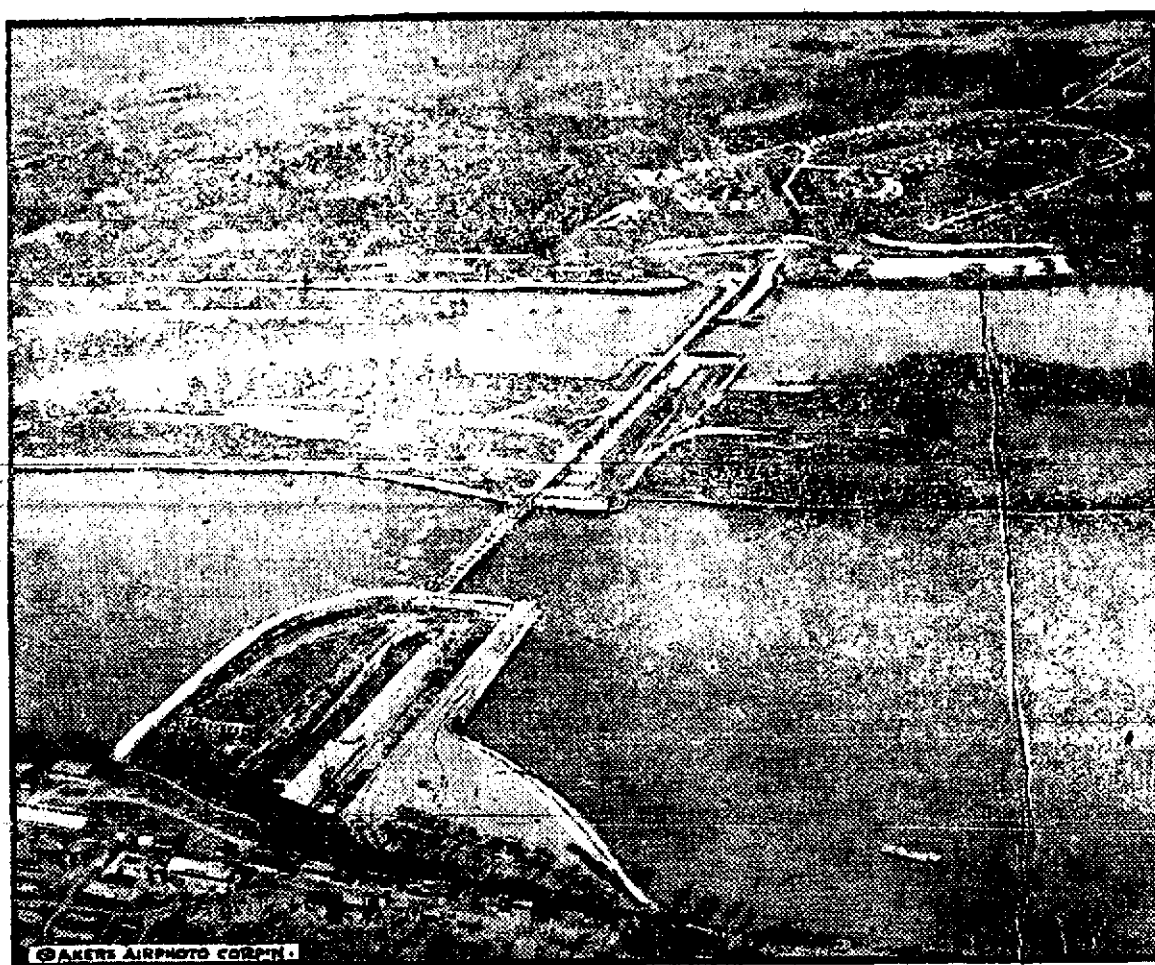

While the "mystery of the green box" was solved it has opened up other avenues of investigation, which are being pursued.

Postage Account.

The postage account of the Bank of North Dakota shows the highest amounts paid out were during the months of the legislative investigation and the month of the recall election. The postage bill for 1921 by months follows: January, $820.56; February, $214.84; March, $1,981.26; April, $724.05; May, $508.06; June, $142.66; July, $11.75; August, $326.27; September, $258.79; October, $971.63; November (until Nov. 23) $199.63. The total for 1921, since June follows: September, $242.51; Aug. $222.10; October, $1,218.25; October, $1,218.25; November (until Nov. 23) $199.63.

FIRST AIRPLANE VIEW OF MUSCLE SHOALS

This picture, just taken from an airplane at a height of 1,000 feet, affords a definite idea of the immensity of the Muscle Shoals project which Henry Ford purposes to convert into the world's greatest industrial center. In the foreground is the Tennessee River divided by a large island which is bridged to either shore by the great Wilson Dam, one and a quarter miles long and the largest in the world. The dam is 25 feet higher than the Gatun Lock at Panama and exceeds the great Roosevelt Dam by 35 feet. Ford also proposes another dam at Lesser Muscle Shoals which would make the river navigable for ocean liners to Birmingham. Ford is now in Washington awaiting action of his bid for the project.

TAYLOR BOOSTS USE OF NATIVE 'ORNAMENTALS'

Trees and Shrubs Here Long Before
The White Men, Are
Not Fully Appreciated

CANNOT DO WITHOUT THEM

Souix Falls, S. D., January 22.—A plea for the more general use of native ornamentals was voiced here by J. B. Taylor, of Ipswich, speaking before the South Dakota Horticultural Society in convention, on the theme, "The First Ornamentals to Consider."

Away back in the days before the white men came into this country, Mr. Taylor told the convention, there were many ornamental trees and shrubs which, although they are still here, are not fully appreciated because they are so easy of culture and perhaps common.

"If they had disappeared like some other plants and animals, in the wake of civilization," he declared, "we would mourn their loss and would have had a place in our literature and art. It is a pity that we have not done so. We have had a place in our literature and art. It is a pity that we have not done so. We have had a place in our literature and art. It is a pity that we have not done so."

"The native cherry, for example, is perhaps a little wild, but it is excellent for protecting the outside fence row, because with its thorns it will not chew it nor rub it down. This native of the prairies has an ornamental appearance in the leaves and an orange colored fruit which adds color and is fine for jelly. It combines usefulness with ornamental qualities."

Choke Cherry Is Hardy

"The choke cherry is perhaps even more hardy and will surprise any tree lover by its shapeliness, while perfume of flowers that penetrate the air for furlongs around will turn any pessimist into a horticulturist and therefore an optimist. Its leaves are dark green, which offset the silvery appearance of the buffalo berry. The fruit is good for jelly and is sure to attract robins."

"The wild black cherry attains considerable size, is a stronger grower than the choke cherry but requires more moist conditions. Its leaves are a very dark green, while its flowers are white and rather inconspicuous with a cherry which looks and tastes much like the choke cherry."

"Wild or native plums are excellent for corner clumps and for chicken yards. The blossoms are as sweet as Wascata, and the fruit is always good for jelly."

"Black or flowering currants have an appealing scent in early spring when a flower is so welcome, and later matures a black edible berry, very fine to eat when fully ripe and good for preserves."

"The same cherry like the currant is another one of the native small fruits that can always be relied upon."

"High bush cranberries, while found only in the eastern and southern part of the state are a high class ornamental, equal or even superior to the

TAYLOR BOOSTS USE OF NATIVE 'ORNAMENTALS'

Trees and Shrubs Here Long Before
The White Men, Are
Not Fully Appreciated

CANNOT DO WITHOUT THEM

Souix Falls, S. D., January 22.—A plea for the more general use of native ornamentals was voiced here by J. B. Taylor, of Ipswich, speaking before the South Dakota Horticultural Society in convention, on the theme, "The First Ornamentals to Consider."

Away back in the days before the white men came into this country, Mr. Taylor told the convention, there were many ornamental trees and shrubs which, although they are still here, are not fully appreciated because they are so easy of culture and perhaps common.

"If they had disappeared like some other plants and animals, in the wake of civilization," he declared, "we would mourn their loss and would have had a place in our literature and art. It is a pity that we have not done so. We have had a place in our literature and art. It is a pity that we have not done so."

"The native cherry, for example, is perhaps a little wild, but it is excellent for protecting the outside fence row, because with its thorns it will not chew it nor rub it down. This native of the prairies has an ornamental appearance in the leaves and an orange colored fruit which adds color and is fine for jelly. It combines usefulness with ornamental qualities."

Choke Cherry Is Hardy

"The choke cherry is perhaps even more hardy and will surprise any tree lover by its shapeliness, while perfume of flowers that penetrate the air for furlongs around will turn any pessimist into a horticulturist and therefore an optimist. Its leaves are dark green, which offset the silvery appearance of the buffalo berry. The fruit is good for jelly and is sure to attract robins."

"The wild black cherry attains considerable size, is a stronger grower than the choke cherry but requires more moist conditions. Its leaves are a very dark green, while its flowers are white and rather inconspicuous with a cherry which looks and tastes much like the choke cherry."

"Wild or native plums are excellent for corner clumps and for chicken yards. The blossoms are as sweet as Wascata, and the fruit is always good for jelly."

"Black or flowering currants have an appealing scent in early spring when a flower is so welcome, and later matures a black edible berry, very fine to eat when fully ripe and good for preserves."

"The same cherry like the currant is another one of the native small fruits that can always be relied upon."

"High bush cranberries, while found only in the eastern and southern part of the state are a high class ornamental, equal or even superior to the

ENGLISH MOURN BRYCE'S DEATH

English Home Unexpectedly

London, Jan. 22.—Civilian and official England today mourned the death of Viscount Bryce who passed away at Sidraut, yesterday. Announcement of the death of the noted statesman, author and diplomat was unexpected.

As a man of letters and a publicist, Viscount Bryce was a world figure. Outside of his own country he was best known in the United States, where since the early eighties his name had been largely centered that he was sometimes cited as an "English Yankee." One remarkable thing related to his name was that he knew American better than most Americans. He was a member of the American Commission of the United States for the past generation—probably the spectacle of a foreigner in the working and structure of their own life and laws, as de Toqueville had done to some extent years previously in his "Democracy in America."

Through his book, through innumerable addresses in this country, and through five years service as the British Ambassador in Washington, Viscount Bryce became one of the most notable human links in the chain of friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain. The extent to which he made his personality felt is explained in part by the fact that while he was a scholar and statesman of the highest rank he always could be found willing to meet people and to discuss publicly and in a friendly way topics of national and international interest.

He was a man of varied achievements, and mere reference to his interest in America does not by any means sum up his remarkable career. He was called "the most versatile living Englishman," which would be true, says one biographer, had he not been born in Ireland, son of a Scotch father and Irish mother, and educated in Glasgow, whence he went to Oxford. He was born in Belfast, May 10, 1833; his father being the Rev. James Bryce of Glasgow, a clergyman of the established Church, and his mother, Margaret (Young) Bryce of County Antrim, Ireland. He was educated in the high school and University of Glasgow, and subsequently gained a scholarship at Oxford, from which he obtained his B. A. degree in 1862 and his D. C. L. in 1870. He afterwards added to his honors degrees in many of the most famous universities in the world.

Courtesy Campaign

On In Louisville

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 22.—A campaign of courtesy for the year 1922 has been inaugurated by the Louisville Railway company. Instead of the "step lively" or "all aboard" order of the conductor, he will politely invite his passengers to move as rapidly as possible, if the plans of James P. Barnes, president of the company, are carried out.

"Treat everyone coming into your office, or meeting you in the course of your work," Mr. Barnes said in a letter to all subordinates, "with courtesy and always more courteous."

COURT WORK IS BEING SPEEDED IN FOURTH DIST.

Judges Coffey and Nuessele Combine Efforts in Disposing of Matters

CLEANING UP CALENDAR

Great Many Cases Have Been Disposed of Here This Winter

Combined efforts of District Judges J. A. Coffey and W. L. Nuessele are resulting in a clean slate on the court calendar in the Fourth judicial district. Effort right now is being centered in cleaning up the calendar in Litchfield county, and this is expected to be accomplished in three weeks.

Litchfield county has been the busiest court in the entire district, because of the large number of important state cases which have been brought up here. Last summer the entire jury term was taken up with the disposition of the Britton case, which was heard before Judge Nuessele.

The two judges "team" in the work of the district. Under the arrangement there are certain matters which each judge looks after in the counties in his old district, such as juvenile, default matters and motions. Judge Nuessele, having completed work in other counties, is now hearing many matters in chamber here while Judge Coffey is presiding at the jury term.

Judge Coffey announced to lawyers that cases on the calendar must be tried this term or dismissed, unless there was a real reason for carrying them over. The biggest jury term held here in a long time has been the result. By the end of this week 15 to 27 criminal cases, and about 70 jury cases will have been disposed of, and when the term ends in probably three weeks from Saturday the slate will be wiped clean, Judge Coffey expects. Some of the cases have been hanging fire for three or four years, being continued either at request of parties involved or because of the extraordinary press of business which made impossible the disposition of all the cases in the term provided by the supreme court.

Judge Coffey and Judge Nuessele alternate every other year in holding court in some of the other counties of the district. Last winter Judge Nuessele held court here while Judge Coffey held court in the other counties. This winter Judge Nuessele is to dispose of the cases in the other counties while Judge Coffey holds court here.

The result of the cooperation of the two judges in the work is highly satisfactory to both of them as the court work in the Fourth judicial district is now said to be in excellent shape.

This morning a jury began hearing in district court the case of State against Henry Opperman, involving a statutory witness is Lincoln Harold, a boy about 15 years old.

CHINESE BOYCOTS BRITISH

Amoy, China, Dec. 23.—A dispute has arisen between the British representatives and the Chinese inhabitants here over the possession of a valuable section of the business district on the waterfront or Bund which may lead to serious consequences. The British claim it as a concession. Part of this disputed territory is composed of filled-in land upon which a British firm is now building a jetty.

To this the Chinese objected, claiming the new land belonged to the city. Failing to stop the British work, they appealed to the Peking government, thus far without result. Circulars have been issued by the Amoy Civilian's association and other Chinese associations protesting against the conduct of the British authorities and resenting the presence here of the British Asiatic fleet, which recently arrived.

A boycott has been declared by the Chinese against the British firm which is building on the filled in land.

MC CUMBER SAYS EASTERN FEARS GROUNDLESS

Co-operation of Every Section Urged to Solve Problems of Nation

MUST DIRECT ENERGIES

North Dakotan, Penrose's Successor Defends His Protection Policy

Arthur Sears Henning, Washington correspondent of the Minneapolis Journal has secured from Senator McCumber a most interesting interview relative to his attitude toward the vital issues. It is the most complete interview from the new chairman of the senate finance committee issued since he succeeded the late Boies Penrose.

The Washington News-Dispatch is reprinted below in full:

The west has been to power in congress, but the west does not intend to take advantage of other sections of the country in the shaping of legislation, according to Senator P. C. McCumber of North Dakota, whose succession to the late Senator Boies Penrose as chairman of the senate finance committee is being viewed with alarm in the east.

"In reading some of the eastern press comments pertaining to the finance committee, I have been somewhat surprised at the expression of fear sometimes indicated that the increasing membership of that committee from the western section of the country and increasing activities of western senators in shaping legislation might possibly endanger the stability of the country and weaken the principle of protection to our American industries, a policy upon which depends in a great degree the prosperity of the people and the consequent stability of our institutions," said Senator McCumber today.

Fears Called Groundless.

"This fear seems to be based upon the assumption that there are some radical differences between the interests of the east and those of the west. I fail to recognize any difference. Whatever may be the provincial ideas of some few of the people of either section, the great mass of thinking persons know that their interests are concurrent. We are one country and one people. The vitalizing blood of commerce must flow with equal freedom through the body politic. It is impossible that one side of it should be vitalic and the other side anemic at the same time.

"We are a big country, and it is a long distance from the Atlantic to the Pacific. We of the west for many years have been trying to adjust our lenses so as to enable us to see and understand the eastern situation. From what I have read of late in some of our metropolitan dailies of the Atlantic states, I think we may be excused if we mildly suggest to some of them that they so adjust their optics as to see not only over the Alleghenies, but also compass in their vision that vast empire watered by the Mississippi and its tributaries, and that further region reaching to our Pacific coast. We not only need in the United States congressmen who have a reasonable acquaintance with the industries of each and every part of this country, its finances and its commerce, from Boston to Portland and from Canada to the gulf -- men who can sympathize with the necessities and the aspirations of every section, but I think I can say with equal candor that we need an American press that will be equally broad and sympathetic in its views."

No Sectional Retaliation.

Time was when tariff making by Aldrich and the other eastern oligarchs caused the west to rise against sectional discrimination. Now the west is in the saddle but imbued with no disposition toward sectional retaliation.

"Whatever may be urged in favor of a free trade policy, had we built our national economic structure on that foundation, I think no right thinking man can fail to understand that a change of that policy today would practically destroy every industry in the United States and bring about a catastrophe the miseries from which would be beyond description," said Senator McCumber. "This is no time to even dream of inflating a policy the exact reverse of that which has been in operation for the most part for considerably more than half a century.

"So come what will we must maintain the protective policy in this country. But we must maintain it as a national policy and not as a sectional one. While it is impossible, by reason of varying conditions, to give every commodity exactly the same degree of

MARY EARNS A MILLION A YEAR, BUT DOUG FOOTS THE BILLS

Mary and Doug and Their Home

By Jack Jungmeyer
Los Angeles, Jan. 24.—"Have few things in the home.

"Use and enjoy them all daily.

"And, above all, keep them in order!"

These are the principles, expressed by Mary Pickford, upon which she and Douglas Fairbanks operate one of the most magnificently simple and well-managed homes in America.

"Orderliness is the keynote of a successful domestic structure, whether it be shack or castle," continued Mary Pickford, screen celebrity and highest salaried woman in the world.

She has an annual income of over a million and a $350,000 establishment in the fashionable Beverly Hills district.

The Fairbanks home isn't run on a rigid budget system although economy is the watchword. Doug pays all running expenses, because, as Mary says, "he's old-fashioned enough to want to do this without aid from his wife."

Albert, major domo of the household, does all the buying as well as the "buttering"—and that's no mean job because of the number of guests constantly being entertained.

"If I have learned any one thing from life and art which I can effectively put back into my home life and my profession," says Mary, "it is this: 'Cluttered minds make cluttered homes, and disordered homes constantly threaten happiness and whole-some development."

"It isn't the amount and cost of one's possessions that insure satisfaction. Riches lie in few and simple things acquired for use and personal culture, instead of show, and it is with this constantly in mind that Mr. Fairbanks and I manage the home which gives us daily refreshment and inspiration.

"I should feel that unless I could achieve this result measurably in a five-room bungalow on a moderate income, I should fail even more miserably in a 50-room palace on many times that income."

NO INCREASING LAND VALUES IN S. DAKOTA

When Things Get Straightened Around, It May Be Different, Says Aldrich

St. Paul, S. D., Jan. 23.—While increased horticultural activities seem to accompany increasing land values, they ought to precede them, and to form an additional anchorage to keep land values from breaking from their mooring and going adrift. This was the contention of Edwin D. Aldrich, state immigration commissioner, who addressed the South Dakota Horticultural Society in annual session here today.

"There are no increasing land values in South Dakota just at present," Mr. Aldrich declared, "but we may hope that in many parts of the state, especially the west-river country, which has had no land boom, and the central part, which had but little, there will be increasing land values when things get straightened around again."

"The pioneer's problems are not unsatisfactory those of beautifying his home. His chief concerns are utilitarian and aesthetic. It is seldom that he begins to adorn his home much until his living is well assured, and his production plant is going smoothly. When this time comes to a community its prosperity is such that advancing land values have arrived.

"I might continue with an academic discussion of why we do more horticultural work as our lands get more valuable. We do not do it because the land is more valuable but because the prosperity which has made it more valuable has also given us more leisure to beautify our premises."

No Statistics.

Mr. Aldrich admitted there are no statistics to bear out these statements but he pointed to the figures gathered by the state tax commission on the number of bearing fruit trees in each county in the state.

"These figures," he explained, "are turned in by the various township or county assessors, and while they are not absolutely accurate, are fairly dependable. The reports for 1919 and 1921 show that the total number of bearing fruit trees in the state have increased in the two years from 199,023 to 312,631, or a gain of 113,608."

"Separating the west river counties, which have an agricultural area nearly the same as those east of the river, we find that the net gain in these newer counties was 10,886, or only about ten per cent of the whole increase. Hence we do find that the horticultural activity was greatest where the land values are highest.

"I wish I knew and could tell the members of this society how to greatly increase its usefulness to the state. I wish we might have some sort of a horticultural center in every county where a few days school of instruction could be held every winter—where boys and girls could be taught grafting and budding and how to plant and care for young trees and how to protect them from their enemies."

Favors Fruit and Shade Trees.

"Our boys and girls are taught how to pick up a hen and determine whether she is an asset or a liability—why can't they be taught something about fruits and shade trees? Let the youngsters who are being taught how to make a living also be taught how to make a worth while to be alive. It is a mistake for the pioneer to postpone horticultural work, unless it is absolutely impossible for him to go ahead with it from the beginning. If his boys and girls could be taught to graft their own scions and bud their own fruit it would make it easier for him to get a start with small means."

Whip-poor-will's call is said to be a sure sign of fair weather.

MANDAN NEWS

Mr. Ellison Dies Suddenly at Home

John Ellison, aged 60, former county commissioner and one of the best known farmers of the Missouri Slope, died very suddenly at 4:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon at his farm home seven miles west of Huff.

Mr. Ellison was in the dining room of his farm home talking with a neighbor relative to farm improvements.

"I'm going to build a new chicken house right over there," he said, and raised his arm to point the place. He fell to the floor, stricken with apoplexy, and died instantly. His death came as a great shock to not only the members of his family but to the hundreds of friends. He had not been ill, and a fatal stroke was entirely unexpected.

John Ellison was born in Norway in 1862, and came to this country in the early eighties, settling first near Sims, and later taking a position as foreman on the ranch of Walter S. Parkins with whom he was associated for a number of years. Some twenty years ago he homesteaded and purchased the farm land seven miles west of Huff where he has since made his home.

Funeral services were held from the Lutheran church yesterday afternoon, Rev. C. J. Fylling officiating. Interment was in the Dahl cemetery at the side of his wife, who died in 1911.

The pall bearers were Lee Nichols, O. H. Killand, Charles McDonald, Oscar Olson, J. H. Norkes, and Pat McGillic. The honorary pallbearers were John Rovig, H. L. Henke, L. H. Connolly, Ray Griffin, Jack Brady, Alfred Olson, Dr. F. E. Bunting, Jos. P. Hess, James Campbell, Theodore Feilund and Charles P. O'Rourke.

Out of respect to the late John Ellison, former county commissioner, the offices of the court house were closed at 3 o'clock.

Ten children, six boys and four girls survive. They are William P. Ellison, present county treasurer, Sidney, Robert, John, Einer and Kenneth, and Mrs. Stephen Brigg and Misses Fern, Lulu and Lucy Ellison.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Wilson have returned from Charles City, Iowa, where the remains of Mrs. A. M. Harrison, mother of Mrs. Wilson, were laid to rest.

DIEHL HUNTS AN $85 CAMERA

Says Homebuilders Camera Listed is Not to be Found

Manager H. C. Diehl of the Homebuilders' Association is looking for an $85 pocket camera.

Not that he has any use for it—he doesn't see what use it would be in the Homebuilders' Association—but it was purchased by the Nonpartisan league management of the association. The $85 pocket camera is listed in the inventory, but is nowhere to be found.

He doesn't see of what use it was, particularly since he also found a bill for $150 to a photographer for pictures. Mr. Diehl also doesn't see what great benefit was accomplished by spending $150 for taking pictures—which was charged against the persons for whom homes were built—unless for league propaganda.

Another item also is bothering Mr. Diehl. The association, according to the inventory, paid $225 for a practically new transit. It is gone, but there remains a transit of different make from that bought and so old it is practically useless.

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Bismarck people. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. J. W. Moran, Sunny Brook Dairy Farm, Bismarck, says: "A good many years ago I had an operation for a floating kidney which was successful, but afterwards the other kidney became affected and I suffered for nearly a year with lameness across the back. I got so dizzy I couldn't stand. I went to the hospital and took treatments but got worse all the time. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills being good and got some. I am pleased to say that after using two boxes I got entirely well and have since stood kidney tests for insurance and passed O. K. thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills."

BUSINESS MEN ASKED TO SEND A DELEGATE

Invitation to Conference on Railroads is Received by Local Body

An invitation today reached the Bismarck Chamber of Commerce asking that representatives be sent to a national conference of business men to be held at Washington, February 8 and 9, for the purpose of considering the railroad situation and what should be done about it from the business standpoint.

The conference is to be held under the auspices of the National Council of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. More than 1400 business organizations throughout the country holding membership in the National Chamber have been asked to participate in the conference. The National Council is made up of one representative each from these business organizations.

Some business men, who have followed closely the rail situation since the roads were turned back to private control, see a drift toward government ownership and operation unless there can be worked out some plan by which the roads can be put on a self-supporting basis. They feel that the Transportation Act should be given a longer trial and that attempts which are being made in Congress to amend the Act, if successful will precipitate a crisis which may make it impossible for the roads to continue under private management. As yet, in their opinion such an increase in earnings as has been attained may have been reached at the expense of proper maintenance.

PROPOSALS FOR ORPHANAGE AT FORT ARE MADE

Government Can't Turn Fort Over, However, Under Terms of Gift of Land

Proposals made by some county commissioners in other counties that a state orphanage be established and that the government be asked to turn over the buildings of Ft. Lincoln to the State of North Dakota for that purpose probably will be followed by further consideration by the government and others of possible use of the fort.

An arrangement, however, it is learned would depend upon the wishes of the men who gave the land on which the fort was built. When the government established the new military post a number of Bismarck men went down into their pockets and dug up money to buy 600 acres of land included in the military reservation. When the land was given to the government the deed provided that if the post should ever cease to be used for military purposes the land would revert to those who gave the land. The land now is regarded as very valuable.

Capt. I. P. Baker of Bismarck, was named trustee for the donors of the land when the successful effort was made to obtain the military post for Bismarck.

CHANGES DATES FOR S. D. FAIR

Dates Set Sept. 11-15 Inclusive—5 Days Instead of 6

Huron, S. D., Jan. 24.—South Dakota's state fair next fall will be of only five days' duration instead of six as formerly according to a recent announcement from the office of the secretary, John F. White. The dates will be from Monday, September 11, to Friday, September 15, inclusive.

"In changing the fair dates this year, the members of the state fair board feel they are making a change that will enable them to produce a stronger program for the patrons of the fair than has been the case when the event was extended over into the sixth day," Mr. White said. "The expense of conducting the fair on the sixth day usually has been as great as for any of the other days of the week, while the crowd is always small. It is, therefore, proposed to eliminate this expense and use the money saved in securing more and stronger features for the remaining days of the week."

Exhibitors who have been notified of the change and followers of the race track who are annual entrants in the fair race program have expressed satisfaction over the change. "Because, they say, it will give them more time to move their exhibits and horses to other state fairs held the week following the South Dakota exhibit."

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

(Established 1873)

GOLDEN JUBILEE

Civic bodies of the city as well as the city fathers should unite in a fitting manner to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of Bismarck.

In connection with the dedication of the Missouri river vehicular bridge, the event could be made a historic one, equal to the gala event when Bismarck became the territorial capital.

This year also is the forty-ninth anniversary of the Bismarck Tribune. Col. Lounsbury issued the first Tribune as a weekly July 6, 1873.

Regular railroad service came in 1873, but the year before combination freight and passenger service was maintained so the Northern Pacific is vitally interested in 1922 as it properly marks the fiftieth anniversary of the extension of the road from Moorhead to the Missouri river.

Bismarck's Golden Jubilee could well be celebrated with a Home Coming Week. An interesting program could be arranged and the attendant publicity would serve to accentuate the great importance of the new bridge to the growth of the entire Slope section.

This city has had a wonderful development. It is not given to "blowing its own horn," but there can be no criticism in marking in a fitting manner the fiftieth year of its existence.

Such a jubilee would afford a fine opportunity to advertise the new improvements in the city proper, the increase in business volume, general growth in schools and other institutions and above all to show the enterprising spirit behind the best little city in the world.

Let's get busy on a plan—the time is short.

SEE EACH GENERATION ADVANCE

Radcliffe College checks up and finds that the fathers of its girl students represent 151 different lines of work. Fathers range from lawyers and doctors to cranberry farmers and horseshoers.

Rich or poor, the father never lived who did not say: "I want my child to start out with a better chance in life than I had."

Thus each generation advances higher, built up like a coral reef into better and better civilization.

Under the top layer, in nearly every case, are a father and mother who deny themselves to educate their children, giving them better weapons for the battle of life. Thoughtless children should give this occasional thought. If it were not for John and Mary, pa would smoke perfectos instead of stogies and ma would have more new dresses.

WHERE ARE TAXES TO COME FROM?

Two of the big meat packers lost about $50,000,000 last year. The corporation that has been able to break even, without going into its surplus, is lucky. Many of them, like bears in winter, have been living off their fat.

This is showing up now in financial statements covering business operations in 1921.

It will show up a lot more emphatically, along about April, when income tax returns are filed and studied.

Low profits mean low tax yield? Deficits mean no tax yield at all. Congress, champion spendthrift, had better buy a pair of rubber boots. It's due to step on a live wire.

Uncle Sam's problem: Where to get tax money to pay his bills.

ONLY A CHOW DOG

Pekoe, chow dog, got lost, far from home. He traveled 66 miles cross-country, through the snow, to get back to his owner, Mrs. E. R. Adams, of Newton Highlands, Mass.

That was a considerable trip for Pekoe, who is small enough to crawl into a gallon jar.

The thing that carried Pekoe to his goal was that he didn't have a human intellect to make him realize the obstacle to be overcome and human imagination to multiply the obstacle many times.

Obstacles are no longer than our imagination makes them.

NOVEL

Ultra-rapid movies, which show you first action slowed down so all details can be watched, are being used to show boxers and golfers their defects.

OPPORTUNITY

Roland O. Lamb, 71 years old, dies. He rose from office boy to president of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Henry Ford had a bicycle repair shop. In 1904, his first year as an auto maker, he made 1708 cars. This year, about 1,000,000 cars.

Opportunities, young man, are just as big and just as many today. They always will be.

LIFE

If you want to live to be so old that no one can raise a question about you, eat solid, substantial food and walk as much as possible.

That is the sensible formula of F. F. Mekus, celebrating his 110th birthday anniversary at De-fiance, O.

His third ingredient is "plenty of pinochle." Any other hobby will do. Takes a hobby to keep the mind and heart young.

IMPORTS

In the first 10 months of this year, up to Nov. 1, imports of merchandise into the United States totaled $2,055,762,580. That compares with $2,504,021,908 in the corresponding 10 months of 1917, when prices were lower.

Something has gone wrong with the calculations of the men who predicted that America would become the dumping ground for a flood of foreign-made goods as soon as the war stopped.

Most of the things we fear most never happen at all.

JAPAN

Until 1854, Japan was isolated, refusing to have anything to do with other countries. Then Commodore Perry unlocked the doors. In 1860, Japan sent to Washington its first commercial and political delegation, in gaudy oriental robes.

President Buchanan, who received the delegation, would have heart failure if he could come to life and see the Japanese at the arms-limitation conference—silk hats, stenographers, battleships and other accoutrements of "civilization." Buchanan and Perry certainly started something.

WEALTH

Thomas Baldwin, 94-year-old Long Island hermit, is found dead in his shack. He died in rags, though he had 25 good suits hanging about the walls.

Thomas probably got great satisfaction, contemplating the 25 suits and knowing that he would never want for good clothes.

If he had read Poor Richard's Almanac, by Ben Franklin, he'd have seen this: "Wealth is not his that has it, but his that enjoys it."

Misers usually forget that money is only a means to an end.

PIONEER

The telegraph wires from Rochester, N. Y., bring news of the passing of George Baldwin Selden, 77 years old, "inventor of the first gasoline-propelled vehicle."

In 1873 Selden quit trying to make a horseless carriage with steam as motive power. Friends joshed him. For three more years, defying jibes, he worked on an auto engine designed to explode a mixture of "laughing gas" and kerosene. Finally, in 1878, he drove out of his workshop in a gasoline car. Laughs stopped.

What place should Selden have in history? Clear a few acres, to make room.

ALONE

Is the ex-kaizer planning to marry again? His choice is said to be the widow of a German colonel killed during the war. She was such an intimate friend of the Hohenzollerns in the old days that she was given charge of the empress' jewels on the eve of the flight to Holland.

The rumor about Bill's possible remarriage says that he is lonely. Sounds logical. Few people would care to exchange places with him and be alone with his thoughts.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

RAISING FREIGHT RATES ON GRAIN FOR THE STARVING

It has too long been a business axiom that when the government is a buyer it pays two prices. No sooner did congress appropriate $20,000,000 to buy and ship grain to the starving in Russia, stipulating that it must go in American bottoms, than the American shipping board jumped its rates 30 per cent, or to $3 a ton more than foreign ships charge. Secretary Hoover, who is head of the American relief committee, is hopping mad about it, and with every reason to be.

Every additional dollar laid out in freight keeps five-sixths of a bushel of wheat or a bushel and a half of corn at prevailing prices, from reaching a people who are dying off by tens of thousands now for the lack of the barest necessities.

If the increase is not absolutely necessary, then it is blood money. There is no other way to characterize it. This puts the burden of proof squarely at the door of the shipping companies. They are due for some tall explaining. If the jump in the rate is made for the purpose of intensifying whatever impression may exist that we ought to have ship subsidy, and the American people ever find it out, subsidy will be flat as a pancake for a generation to come.—Newark News.

THE GREAT A MERICAN HOME

-WATCHIN' DAD SHAVE-

"WAY DOWN EAST," GRIFFITH FILM

APPEALS TO LOCAL AUDIENCE

There is no question as to the great production, "Way Down East," and at the Capitol Theater this splendid and thrilling amplification and adaptation of the famous play of the same name brought praise from two large audiences.

"Way Down East" has a human story to tell, and there is a straightforward and effective method employed, with a culmination of tremendous power. Indeed nothing has ever been seen on stage or screen to equal the thrilling intensity of the scenes depicting the wanderings of Ann Moore through snowstorm and over ice and the rescue of the hopeless young woman by David Bartlett as she lies on an ice floe on the brink of a falls. Realism is here brought to the accompaniment of a special score that is thematic and colorful and that enhances the showing. Some entirely new effects devised by Griffith are to be noted.

most careful attention to detail with some admirable landscapes and with scenes that show the countryside at all seasons of the year. Little touches such as are distinctively Griffith have poetic value and there is a most liberal proportion of fun, sometimes of a boisterous sort, but always in the spirit of the tale. The barn dance with Creighton Hale as a bewildered dancing professor is one of the big fun bits in the piece.

In the cast are Viola Ogden, Burr Melatos, Kate Bruce, Lowell Sherman, Florence Short, Mary Hay, George Neville, Mrs. Morgan Belmont, a social leader of New York and Newport and others. The picture is shown to the accompaniment of a special score that is thematic and colorful and that enhances the showing. Some entirely new effects devised by Griffith are to be noted.

effecting the whole may be expected within the near future, at least to extensive appropriations, reorganization and federalization. Large sums are expended for war "preparedness" and too little for our school system. May we look through the azure of the heavens to a sublime light that does not spell war preparedness, but instead spells peace, prosperity, educational enlightenment and unity of government with its people.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is DECRY. It is pronounced—de-kry, with accent on the last syllable. It means—to blame, to censure, to condemn.

It comes from—Old French "de-cryer," to cry out against. It is used like this—"The whole world decried the action of the German empire in plunging Europe into war."

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Many prophets and kings have desired to see the things that ye see, and have not seen them; and to hear the things that ye hear, and have not heard them.—Luke 10:24.

There is no victory possible without humility and magnanimity, and no magnanimity or humility possible without an ideal; and there is no one who has not heard the call in his own heart to put aside all evil habits, and to live a brave, simple, truthful life.—Thomas Hughes.

MRS. WILTSCHKO, OWNER

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 24.—That North Dakota hens can be coaxed to produce more henfruit in winter is evident from records of 146 hens and pullets laid 880 eggs during the last month according to the records, which is an amount sufficient to pay one-fourth of a whole year's board bill of the entire flock. The birds were culled during the fall and the proven non-producers were sent to the block. Attention to breeding from the best producers has been the leading problem of keeping the flocks, and well-ventilated during the winter, and care in feeding the flock, is largely responsible for the good results which are being obtained by many poultry raisers of the state.

Plans are being developed by the poultry department of the Agricultural College in cooperation between the department and groups of poultry raisers throughout the state. Owners of flocks are to report records each month to the department, and poultry specialists plan to cooperate with owners of flocks and in other problems related to the care and management of poultry.

The record state that the average production of North Dakota's average laying hens was sixty eggs per year has brought attention to a number of instances of larger productions. There are many flocks in the state with a larger production, according to Mr. Barton, but there are also a very large number where the average is below sixty.

North Dakota has to many hens that are an actual loss to their owners. In the opinion of Prof. Barton, it is his opinion that about one out of three is an average loss. He says that the loss is a liability to the farm on a monthly basis where kept. He substantiates this statement with the experience in Ward county last fall, when one third of the hens were culled from ten different flocks. No checks were noted in the egg production record of the flocks after the culling of the non-workers.

To make certain that the Ward county instance was not an unusual occurrence, Mr. Palmer produced a number of records of individual cullings from some of the places where he worked during the past fall. He culled flocks in 17 different counties and under widely different conditions. The record of the individual cullings for the following days follow: Foster Sherman farm, Fingert, Barnes county, 23 of 73 hens culled out and in following eight days the 23 hens laid two eggs, and the remaining 49 hens laid 50 eggs.

Iver Orvenden, Pierce county, 30 hens culled from flock of 90. Culls laid four eggs in following 10 days, and remaining 60 laid 160 eggs during the same time.

Mrs. A. Jones, Thompson, Grand Forks county, 54 hens culled from a flock of 158, culled laid three eggs in following week, remainder laid 332.

Mrs. L. E. Stillman, Valley City, Barnes county, 20 culled laid three eggs during week following culling demonstration, remaining 21 laid 21 eggs.

AIRPLANE IS SUGGESTED TO CARRY MAIL

Grand Marais, Minn., Jan. 24.—Maudie, in this vicinity recently of a Minnesota National Guard airplane, being used to assist in the search for James Muehrer, missing Cook county commissioner, caused revival of interest in a project advanced several years ago, which was planned to serve as a connecting link between this region and the outside world during the winter.

SEASONABLE BEAUTY AID
We find you can bring out the beauty of your hair to its very best advantage by washing it with Vanitha. It makes a very simple, inexpensive shampoo, which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dirt and excess oil, leaving a wonderfully clean, wholesome feeling. After its use you will find that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is never irritated in appearance and is always bright, soft and fluffy. So fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. Just use a teaspoonful of Vanitha, which you can get in any good drug store, and wash your hair with water. This makes a full cup of shampoo. Wash, and so it is easy to apply it to all the hair in the head. ADV.

many heavy snows cover roads to an almost impenetrable depth, this north-east corner of Minnesota is practically cut off from the rest of the world. It could not be so bad, say business men, if the mail would reach here regularly.

But the snow-filled cuts in the roads make uncertain the arrival of mail by truck from Duluth, 128 miles away. There is no great inconvenience for want of necessities of life, for supplies are received in the early winter before the last small craft are taken out of lake service.

To relieve this prevailing remoteness, business men have often discussed possibilities for obtaining an airplane which might be used for purposes other than bringing mail and necessities from outside points. The plane might be used in the forestry service for patrolling the thousands of acres of wooded land in this vicinity; equipped with skids for landing on water it could also be utilized for patrolling the lake shore, being coast guard duty in case of emergencies.

It is not seldom that fishermen and others become lost when squalls send their frail craft into mid-lake. It is not seldom that the plane could be used in search for these persons, it is believed.

During a recent visit here in connection with the search for the missing Cook county commissioner, Captain J. J. Shorke, commanding officer of the Duluth Tark Corps, discussed the feasibility of the project with local business leaders, who are anxious to have the plan tried out.

U. S. OFFICERS MAKE RAIDS AT VALLEY CITY

Valley City, N. D., January 24.—Federal Prohibition Officer Lane Moloney and Deputy Sheriff Bert Lipold entered the billiard parlor of Joseph Melsaac in the basement of the Rago Hotel Saturday night with a search warrant, and on execution of this warrant found behind the bar, three one gallon jugs, two of which contained fermented wine of high alcoholic percentage. Other jugs found contained straight grape juice. In a room in the rear of the pool hall they found six fifty gallon barrels full of fermented grape juice, and another fifty gallon barrel between half and two-thirds full. A writ of seizure was issued on this beverage and samples taken. This morning Lane Moloney in company with Deputy Sheriff Lipold seized and removed all of this stuff from the premises of Mr. Melsaac. In addition to what they seized there were numerous jugs, barrels and bottles found about the premises. This grape juice was purchased by Mr. Melsaac from a wholesale house in St. Paul. After it arrived here Mr. Melsaac had made air vents in the heads of the barrels allowing this grape juice to ferment for the past three months.

This is the largest seizure of alcoholic beverages made from a place of business in this state to date. Mr. Melsaac informs Mr. Moloney that this grape juice cost him $125 per barrel wholesale and as near as Mr. Moloney has been able to ascertain retailed at 15c per glass, making at retail at about $15 per gallon. In other words the price of this liquor at retail would bring the approximate value of the seizure between three and four thousand dollars. Mr. Melsaac was arraigned before Judge Zable this forenoon and waived preliminary examination. He was released on a bond of $500 for his appearance in district court.

TURKS HAVE LITTLE LOVE FOR RUSSIA
Once Britain Is Defeated, Turks Will Then Go After The Russians

Baku, Azerbaijan, Soviet Republic, Jan. 24.—The success of Turkish arms against the Greeks is stirring the Mussalman world, and may in time have a far-reaching effect on Russian influence throughout the Caucasus, Turkey and Persia.

There is a tendency on the part of Moscow, tired of settling interminable disputes, to let these various outlying republics, sovietized by force of circumstances and Red army greed, to go their own way, temporarily, and certainly the republics have not been slow to reassert their old local power.

Imperial Russia formerly had a sort of blanket rule, called a vice-royalty, functioning in the Caucasus, consisting of seven provinces and five territories, for the region populated by 12,000,000 persons, three times the size of New England, and three-fourths as large as Texas.

Moscow has lately proposed to revise this old central form of government, in order to eradicate the boundary, commercial, and customs disputes among the republics of Azerbaijan, Georgia, Daghestan, and Armenia, including lively sideline disputes with Turkey and Persia.

But if there is any union, it may be rather against than for Moscow. Outside of Georgia, it even not there, the Turk and generally speaking, the Islam influence is stronger than that of Russia.

Islam is certainly gone more in the saddle at Baku. Even the coachmen refuse to speak the Russian language. Eyyaz Pasha, former Turkish War Minister, who was sentenced to death by a Turkish court martial for plunging that country into the world war, has been here lately apparently trying to show that due respect to Moscow should be continued. His plan of campaign is now to hold on for a while longer with Russia. He claims that the British influence can be cleared out of all Turkey, Persia and the Islamic peoples of Turkestan and India, by working with the Russians. He argues that when Britain has been defeated and Turkey is once more politically independent, Russia can be dealt with, the Soviet rule overthrown here and in Turkestan, and the old order reestablished.

Communism, backed up by the Eleventh Red Army, is still inclined to joy ride in Tiflis but in Baku the worm is turning. It has had enough of the Cheka and the slaughter of its business men. Andriev, its minister of foreign affairs, is a Communist in name only; Moscow is obeyed in fact as Moscow's mandates suit Baku. Dr. Narimanov, installed as president of the Azerbaijan republic by Moscow because of his Communism, is after all a Mussalman and cannot side with strangers against his own people. There are not only broad lines, but oil lines in Baku, the richest oil region of the East.

For these and other reasons, if success crowns definitely the long fight of Mustafa Kemal Pasha in Turkey, the cards will be shuffled anew here and the Caucasus mountains will again become political headlines.

California, Flagship of Pacific Fleet, Out After Pennant

Los Angeles, Jan. 24.—The new superdreadnaught, California, flagship of the Pacific fleet and mightiest floating fortress in the Pacific, has started out to take the gunnery pennant away from the New Mexico, which the California displaced as flagship of the fleet. Short range battle practice and short range director practice with big guns of the new warcraft were held this month, and the day torpedo defense practice will start February 14. The California has to crowd a year's practice in gunnery into six months, for half the season had passed before it went into commission.

The warcraft went far enough to sea to prevent damage to the beach towns by the concussion effects.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE PLATE
How the Spirit of Giving Was Manifested in the Churches a Hundred Years Ago.

Fresh-laid eggs are frequently deposited on the contribution plate in some of the backwoods Episcopal churches of the South. Which goes to show that the spirit of giving hasn't changed so very much in the hundred years or so of the Church Missionary society. The first report of the society dated May 30, 1823, was dug up the other day, and while it shows no contribution of eggs, a score of other articles of merchandise seem to have found their way to the plate from the people who gave "according to their means."

This report, for instance, shows that back in 1821 David Spethman gave a basket of groceries for the support of the missionaries; Stephen North contributed a medicine chest; William Rawland, a cross-stitch; Joe and John Needles, two slaves; S. Massey, a coffee mill. John and T. Clully contributed, alas, a singularly empty gift—a safe. John Burson came along with a tub, whether bath or wash is not stated. C. Buckley is credited on the books with "deduction on hat" $1.50; John McAllister donates a thermometer. Among other miscellaneous are hymn books, slates, spades, shoes, trousers, chairs, soap, bridges and locks. Finally from one Richard Markell there is a hoghead of tobacco, which encourages the hope that some good missionary of the church in his lonely station after off enjoyed a comfortable smoke, says the publicity department of the Protestant Episcopal church.

Health is Most Vital to Every Woman. Read What Mrs. Ross Says. Minneapolis, Minn.—"When my children were small I had a sick spell that weakened me so I could not walk across the floor without the aid of a chair.
